Index Copernicus International

„Index Copernicus International” – a professional platform disseminating scientific achievements on the international publishing market. ICI World of Journals is the third largest international database. Currently, there are more than 45,000 journals registered in the database and the number of users visiting ICI World of Journals website exceeds 70,000 from 150 countries each month. The database is a register of scientific journals that have successfully passed the multi-dimensional parameterization. The indexation in the database is confirmed by the obtained ICV (Index Copernicus Value) numerical index.

„The Central European Journal of Social Sciences and Humanities” (CEJSH) - founded in Visegrád on October 27, 2004, in compliance with the joint decision taken in Prague on October 31, 2003 between the Czech Academy of Sciences, the Polish Academy of Sciences (PAN), the Slovak Academy of Sciences and the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. The CEJSH is an electronic, open access database publishing English articles’ summaries, dissertations and reviews published mostly in national languages and in journals devoted to social and humanities sciences released in the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, Slovakia, as well as in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Serbia, Slovenia and Ukraine.

„Polish Scientific Bibliography” - run by the Ministry of Science and Higher Education, which gathers information on Polish and foreign scientific journals and publications of Polish scientists. PSB is a part of the general information system for higher education and Polish science.
