Directions for Authors

The Editors accept for publication scientific papers, which are calculated on the basis of volume, according to the so-called issue sheet: one line (row) contains 60 characters with spaces; a standard page contains 30 lines, i.e. 1800 characters with spaces (30x60=1800); an issue sheet contains approximately 40 000 characters with spaces, which is 22 standard pages. A page/sheet of text includes the Author's text together with quotations. However, footnotes, bibliographic references and translation of foreign-language citations are not included. The Author should submit the abstract/summary in Polish and English, as well as translated title and keywords.

Assessment of manuscripts and publication of articles

The Author is usually informed of the initial decision of the Editorial Board within 30 days. This includes acceptance or rejection of the manuscript. Reviews are carried out within 14 days after the selection of Reviewers. This applies to manuscripts qualified for review. The estimated time for publication of the article is 60-90 days from the date of acceptance by the Review Board and the Publisher. Publication of the article in electronic version precedes the publication in printed version by about 20 days. The Editors inform the Authors about the publication of the article by e-mail.
